

Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

VOL. XXV.

HOPKINSVILLE, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1903.

NO. 70.

Butterick Patterns,

We are sole distributors of Butterick Patterns for this section.

A Full Line Latest Styles Always on Hand.....

The last number of THE DELINEATOR at 15 cts. a copy and yearly subscription taken at ONE Dollar.

J. H. Anderson & Co.

Prices Go Still Lower.

One $85 Phaeton for 65.00

Stylish and Up-to-Date in Every Particular.

One Steel Tire Runabout, worth $45, For $33.00.

One Rubber Tire Stick Seat Driving Wagon, worth $60, For $43.50.

If you want a buggy of any kind get our prices, they are being sold at prices below anything ever heard of in this county.

Harness of all kinds, Draft Collars, Hames, Chains, Pads, Bridles, &c., Cheaper than ever. Call and see us, we will save you money.

F. A. YOST & CO.
207 South Main St.

BASE BALL.

Numerous Games to be Played Here Shortly.

Hopkinsville Boys Now at Clarksville and the Latter Team Comes Here Next.

Henderson won the game from Hopkinsville, played at Henderson, Tuesday. The game was full of interesting features, but the locals lost. The score was 4 to 2.

The last game of the series played at Henderson between these clubs also resulted in a victory for the Henderson nine. The score was 7 to 3.

The Hopkinsville team returned to this city Tuesday night and played an exhibition game at Atlantic park with the Adams, Tenna, club Wednesday afternoon. The Adams team is one of the strongest independent teams in the South, being composed of the Nashville reserves and other semi-professional players. They have won 27 out of the last 30 games played. They however, failed to make a landing here, being defeated by the score of 21 to 1.

The game was called at 3 o'clock and was finished in time for the Tennessee boys to return home on the train which passes here at 5:38.

The local team went to Clarksville yesterday morning, where a series of three games will be played this week. The boys will be home tomorrow night and Clarksville will be here Monday, for a series, beginning that day. It is likely that a double header will be played here either Monday or Tuesday, as there are only two days in which to finish the series of three games between Hopkinsville and Clarksville at this place.

Paducah will be the next team to play here. That club will be here Thursday, Sept. 10, for three games. Then comes Jackson for three games the first half of the following week and Cairo will follow, winding up the games here for the season.

UP IN SMOKE.

Faulkner & Son Loose Brand Tobacco by Fire.

A large tobacco barn, well filled with fine tobacco, the product of twelve acres, belonging to E. J. Faulkner & Son, of near Herndon, was destroyed by fire about 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The process of "firing" the weed was in progress, when it caught from sparks and was reduced to ashes in a very few minutes. The building contained some of the best tobacco raised by Mr. Faulkner and his son this year. The loss is estimated at about $1,500. They had no insurance and the loss falls heavily upon them.

ANOTHER "DRY" TOWN.

Sebree Takes Vote and the "Wets" Lose Again.

Last Saturday in North Sebree precinct, which includes half of the town, a vote was taken on the liquor question and resulted in a victory for the "Drys." On Monday the balance of the town took a vote and the "drys" won the fight.

The town has been operating under local option for the past three years.

OPEN AT CADIZ.

First Speaking By Circuit Judge Candidates Monday.

Candidates Thos. P. Cook and James Breathitt will open their campaign for Circuit Judge at Cadiz next Monday, with a joint discussion. Much interest is being shown in the speaking, which will undoubtedly draw a large crowd.

Strange Disease in Cuba.

Havana, Sept. 1.—A strange disease like the bubonic plague but more fatal is reported from various parts of the island.

BEST EVER HELD

Is Universal Opinion of Teachers' Institute.

Professor Evans Gives Much Satisfaction as Instructor
--Adjourns To-day.

The Christian County Teachers' Institute, which met Monday, has continued throughout the week with increasing interest.

The attendance has been the largest ever had, 110 teachers being on hand. Prof. Chas. Evans, from Marion, has made a model instructor and all of the teachers have done their part in making the institute a success. The opinion is universal that it is the best ever held here.

Mrs. W. E. Gray and Prof. John Keith were elected Secretary and Assistant Secretary.

The institute's program Tuesday began with a discussion of Educational Principles, led by the teacher. His effort was a masterly one and left little to be said by the teacher.

Language was next taken up and some entertaining talks made.

A class was formed, including the whole institute, with Mr. Evans teacher.

Many good points were brought out. Some of the practical ones were:

1. Make a plan for each lesson.
2. Encourage free speaking of each pupil.
3. Insist upon the correct language.
4. Avoid incorrect sentences.

Miss Myrtle Brasher opened "When Should Text Books Appear." She read a very interesting paper.

Mrs. Nora Williamson handled the subject of "Criticism" in a manner to convince all that she understood her subject thoroughly.

Correcting pupils' papers was discussed, with a comparison of the methods of correcting from the board, by members of the class and by the teachers at night.

"Text Books of the Best Kind" was discussed by Prof. C. E. Dudley. In his excellent talk he said in his opinion the teacher who loves and is acquainted with nature is one of the best text books.

"School Management" was the principal subject at the afternoon session. Excellent papers on Elements of School Management were read by Misses Lucy Hambraugh and Elizabeth Knight.

Firmness and Consistency were given high rank among the essential elements.

Mr. T. W. Vinson made a pointed talk on "Courteous," holding that the teacher must be a leader in matters of courtesy and politeness. Also in neatness of the room, carefulness of dress and kindred matters.

Mrs. Lucile Fisher and Miss Pearl Jenkins discussed "School Rules." This evoked a general discussion, with a diversity of views, but all agreed that a school must be ruled either by or without rules.

Miss Eileen Young discussed "School Punishment." She advocated corporal punishment if necessary. She urged teachers to never make a rule without enforcing it. Prof. Evans condemned both the use of "rules" and the infliction of corporal punishment.

The subject of History was resumed from Monday and many good talks made. The results of the discussion were summed up in nine points of a successful teacher of history:

1. A retentive memory.
2. Logical power to analyze and group facts.
3. Enthusiasm for the subject.
4. Sound judgment.
5. Clear insight into character.
6. Devotion to truth.
7. Persistence.
8. Vivid imagination.
9. Learn to tell a tale well.

NEW GOODS!

Mercerized Silk Vesting.

The Newest Fall Waisting in all the New Shades. Be Sure and See Them.

New Dress Goods! New Percales!

Big Line Carpets, Mattings, Linoleums and Oil Cloths.

Cut Prices on all Summer Goods.

T. M. Jones.

Devotional exercises were conducted Wednesday morning by Dr. W. L. Nourse. Mr. Evans introduced "Educational Principles" in a fine address. His main theme was the building up and training of character for pupils. There should be a connecting link in the child's life from home to school, to church. All play a conspicuous part in developing the child's future usefulness. Home is the most important factor. Surely the public school where 2,000,000 children daily attend, is a good place to lead the child into right paths.

The teacher who fails to build up character fails in one of the grandest parts of his work.

"Methods of Teaching Grammar" was discussed by Prof. John Sollee. He advocated parsing as a mid trainer. Prof. C. E. Dudley agreed with Prof. Sollee that parsing was good and should be taught in our schools. Prof. W. E. Gray also agreed that parsing was absolutely necessary to a correct knowledge of the language. Prof. Evans was against parsing and quite a lively discussion followed, in which many teachers took part. It was at last decided that some parsing was especially beneficial and also absolutely necessary.

"Diagramming" was discussed by Profs. Cherry, Sollee, Moreland and others. It was approved as a shorter and plainer way to understand a sentence. Misses May Estates and Elizabeth Edmunds told how to make the subject an interesting one.

Examination next received attention, being opened by Mr. Wallace Durham. Speeches were made by Profs. John Sollee, Clay Thomas, Oscar Pool and others. Good points brought out were:

1. Prepares for future examination.
2. Trains the memory.
3. Encourages neatness in written work.
4. Compels pupils to be accurate.
5. Trains them to pick out important facts.
6. Brings out pleasant emulation.

The bad points are:

1. Causes cheating.
2. Unfairness to timid pupils.
3. Causes ill feeling between pupils.

Prof. Evans said he was trying to substitute daily records of recitations for examinations.

Mrs. Mattie Doss held that, examinations should be had only when a pupil has finished a book and then for the purpose of finding out if he shall drop the book.

Miss Ora King followed and said she substitutes reviews connecting one day's work with another.

Miss Lula Earle discussed How to Hold Examinations.

Miss Myrtle West gave a short talk on marks and passing marks, using 100 as perfect.

Libraries was discussed next in a very interesting manner by various speakers.

The program yesterday embraced the interesting subjects of "Methods of Teaching," other branches of "School Management," Mutual Duties" and History. All received proper attention and the discussions were interesting.

Last night Prof. Evans delivered a lecture to the public.

The program for today is as follows:

8:30 Opening Exercises.

9:00 Educational Principles—Instructor.

9:50 Recre. Music.

10:00 Methods: Writing.

Carrie Wood and Hattie Newton.

At What Grade Introduced—Miss Elizabeth F. Walker.

What place should this study occupy in school?—Mrs. Lelia H. Stephens and Miss Florence Gray.

10:50 Recess.

1:00 School Expositions — Instructor.

11:50 Adjournment.

Afternoon.

1:15 Roll Call. Quotations.

1:30 Teaching:

As a Trade—J. E. Brown and J. L. Manire.

As a Profession—L. W. Guthrie and Miss Georgia Fruitt.

What is it?—Supt. J. B. Taylor.

What has the Institute Done for us?—Misses Dovie Anderson and Myrtle Holman.

3:30 Recess.

2:40 Miscellaneous Business.

Final Adjournment.

THE ATHAENEUM

Net Last Night After Summer Vacation.

The first meeting of the Atheneum since the adjournment in June, was held at Hotel Latham last night, being opened with the usual banquet to the ordinary.

The leading topic for discussion was a paper by Dr. Robert F. McDaniel, entitled: "A Few Facts About Bacteriology." For once the doctors were at the front in the discussion and the meeting might have been easily mistaken for a medical society.

Two new members were admitted to fill vacancies—Dr. W. W. Ray and Prof. J. B. Taylor.

The meetings will be held regularly thereafter the first Thursday in each month.

COL. W. P. THORNE

Will Speak at the Opera House Monday.

Col. W. P. Thorne, Democratic nominee for Lieutenant Governor, will speak at the Opera House next Monday at 1:30 p. m. Col. Thorne is a great favorite in this county and never fails to draw a large crowd. His good humored speeches this year will be a feature of the Democratic campaign.

The speaking will be held in the Opera House because the Court House is not yet ready for occupancy.

BARS TO DIVORCES.

Some Countries Make It Difficult to Sever the Marital Tie.

Some curious and interesting facts regarding the marriage and divorce laws of foreign countries are contained in a British parliamentary paper just issued, "says the London Express. Breaches of promise are averted in Hungary by an express declaration of the civil marriage act 1895, that "the relations created by a betrothal do not give a right to demand the conclusion of marriage, but if either party withdraws from an engagement without just reason he or she is bound to grant compensation to the extent of the outlay incurred."

Divorce in the English sense does not exist, but the courts can decree the personal separation of a married couple without dissolving the bonds of matrimony.

A curious law prevailing in France provides that, before being married, children of a family, although over age, shall seek in "respectful and formal terms" the advice of their father and mother. It makes no difference, however, whether or not the consent of parents is given, for the couple can be married a month month afterward under any circumstances. This is also the case in the Netherlands.

The German courts adopt a remarkable procedure in divorce actions. In the interest of public morality an attempt at reconciliation must be made between the parties in the presence of the judge. The attorney general is bound to cooperate with this and is empowered to bring new evidence which may tend to prevent the dissolution of the marriage.

When, however, misconduct is proved, a divorce is granted and the guilty party, on the application of the innocent party, can be punished with imprisonment.

A divorce further entitles the innocent party to recover all the presents he or she may have made.

According to the constitution of the Netherlands the civil marriage must always precede the religious ceremony. The latter, indeed, is left entirely to the conscience of the parties concerned. There is also a law providing that no man or woman under 30 can marry without the consent of his parents. If the consent is refused the couple may have to appear before a judge, who advises them as he thinks best.

Many countries have now abolished all marriage fees. This is the case in Norway, while in the Netherlands certain days of the week are set apart when persons may be married without payment.

The most diverse forms of marriage and divorce law are found in the United States. The 45 states, the five territories, and the District of Columbia have separate and independent laws on each subject. Marriage between whites and negroes is prohibited in a majority of the states, especially in the south. There are also 13 states in which there is no legal limit to the ages at which persons can marry.

NEEDED REFERENCES.

The Farmer Was Suspicious of People Who Wrote Books.

The well-known English novelist, W. Pitt Rivers, has a literary friend who recently went to the country in order to take a house on a farm. He saw the farmer and conducted the preliminary negotiations with perfect satisfaction to both sides. Presently he asked:

"Would you like some references?"

"No, no," said the farmer gaily, "You are a gentleman; I can see straightforwardness written across your face. Don't bother about the references. I expect you want to go back to your business in the city."

The friend mentioned that he had no business in the city.

"Oh, then," said the farmer, "I suppose you have business outside the city."

"No," he replied, "I am an author."

"What?" cried the farmer, "not an author that writes books?"

Yes, he admitted that he had written ten books. A look of doubt crept over the honest farmer's face.

"Well, well," he said, "to turn back to the business we were talking about. I think, after all, master, I'll have to trouble you for a couple of them references."

To Keep Friends.

Don't spend all your time making promises. If you would retain your friends it is up to you to give an occasional performance. — Chicago Daily News.

QUEER PYGMY ELEPHANTS.

Remains of a Curious Breed of Animals Found in Cyprus.

At the meeting of the Royal Society in London the other day Miss D. M. A. Bates gave a preliminary description of a very interesting extinct species of elephant from the bone caves of Cyprus. It has been known for some years that dwarf representatives of both the elephant and the hippopotamus had once been abundant in Sicily and Malta, and Dr. Forsyth Major only last June announced the discovery of a pygmy species of the latter animal in Cyprus. Encouraged by this, Miss Bates last year carefully examined some caves in the Kerynia hills, a limestone range in the north of the island, till she succeeded in discovering, though by no means in abundance, the teeth of a small species of elephant. In the Italian island that animal was represented in late geological times almost certainly since man appeared on the earth, by two species, the smaller of which, elephas melitensis, did not exceed a yard in height, and the other called mnaidriensis was hardly larger than a donkey. Two species also of hippopotamus inhabited the same islands, one of them, minutus, which apparently was extraordinarily abundant, being about the same size of the pigmy species now living in Liberia—that is, not bigger than a large pig; the other, H. pentlandi, being larger, and intermediate in size between the last-named one and that now living in many parts of Africa. The Cyprus representatives, both of this animal and of the elephant, are different from the species in the central islands of the Mediterranean. The elephant, according to Miss Bates, was about the same size as the smaller of the two in Malta, which it more closely resembles—so that its affinities, like theirs, are with the living African elephant, and its form in prehistoric times, its bones found in the ground.

"In jumping up the cat first crouches on the ground at the foot of the fence, strikingly like a tiger in manner and appearance. And, having gathered itself thus, the cat springs upward, to hit the fence at a point about two-thirds the way up from the ground, climbing the rest of the way with its claws.

"The jumping down is practically a reversal of this method, the cat showing in the down jump a remarkable instinctive knowledge of how to accomplish this jump without doing itself injury in the drop.

"I have never measured a cat, but should think that, at a liberal estimate, an ordinary cat might measure from tip to tip two feet; which would make a jump of it from the top of a six foot fence of three times its own length. Imagine what would happen to a six-foot man jumping three times his own height, or 18 feet straight down. But if the man could make his jump the way the cat makes it, he would be in far less danger of doing himself injury.

"Jumping down, the cat crouches again, now on the top of the fence, very tiger-like in appearance as before, low, flat down on the fence top, and gathers itself so for the spring, with every muscle under control. And then it does not jump clear from there to the ground, but it just slides, head first, plumb down the face of the fence for about one-third of its height, and then takes off from there with an oblique downward jump, landing with a shock reduced by one-third, at least, from the shock it would have got if it had jumped clear from the top.

"Remarkable creature, when you come to know it a little, the cat!"

Hot dogs rolled in great night-breed malarial in the body that is bilious or costive. Prickly Ash Bitters is very valuable at this time for keeping the stomach, liver and bowels well regulated. At R. C. Hardwick's.

A delicious little comedy in the September McClure's is "The Pompadour Angel" by Mary Moseley. A snow-bound Pullman car in the Jersey Bad Lands, with its quota of Pullman types—two Wall Street brokers, a bald headed old gentleman with spats, a highly conventional New York society man and rising lawyer, a highly conventional chaperon, and a would-be unconventional society girl, heart-broken for her love, and in other countries the Peters have been unlucky." Peter or Peter II., emperor of Brazil, should after an uneasy reign, and his son, Peter II., was driven to Europe by a revolution and died in Paris in 1816. Peter the Great of Russia was slain by his brother in single combat. Peter the Great of Russia was guilty of frightful excesses; his grandson, Peter II., reigned only three years and died of smallpox at the age of 15. Peter III. was deformed and strangled by conspirators. Peter I. of Serbia has already a brutal massacre behind him.

Smallest British Coin.

In the British crown colony of Hong-Kong a coin is in circulation known as the "mil." This is a tiny copper coin with a hole in the center intended to take the place of the Chinese "cash," which is one-fifth of a penny, and is in general use among the coolies in the colony. The mil is one-tenth part of a cent, one thousandth part of a dollar, and as the silver dollar in use in Hong-Kong is worth about 15.7d. it follows that the mil is worth about one-sixtieth part of a penny. This, therefore, is the value of the smallest British coin.

Committed Suicide.

While insane, Mrs. Kathleen Johnson, of New York, badly wounded her seven-year-old child in an effort to kill it, and committed suicide with the same weapon, a carving knife.

"Now good digestion waits on appetite, and health on both." It doesn't try Burdock Blood Bitters.

THE CAT AS A JUMPER.

Prof. Von Joggleby's Observations on an Interesting Subject.

"Some little time ago," said Prof. von Joggleby, according to the New York Sun, "in communicating to you something concerning cats which had come under my observation in the range of backyards that I have in view from my study window I spoke of the marvelous jumping ability displayed by these animals, which then for the first time came to my knowledge."

"The yards comprised in this range are divided by board fences six feet or more in height, up whose sheer face the cat jumps with perfect ease, to walk then with great contentment along the narrow coping board with which each fence is topped. I now desire to say something concerning the marvelous way in which the cats jump down from these high fences to the ground.

"In jumping up the cat first crouches on the ground at the foot of the fence, strikingly like a tiger in manner and appearance. And, having gathered itself thus, the cat springs upward, to hit the fence at a point about two-thirds the way up from the ground, climbing the rest of the way with its claws.

"The jumping down is practically a reversal of this method, the cat showing in the down jump a remarkable instinctive knowledge of how to accomplish this jump without doing itself injury in the drop.

"I have never measured a cat, but should think that, at a liberal estimate, an ordinary cat might measure from tip to tip two feet; which would make a jump of it from the top of a six foot fence of three times its own length. Imagine what would happen to a six-foot man jumping three times his own height, or 18 feet straight down. But if the man could make his jump the way the cat makes it, he would be in far less danger of doing himself injury.

"Jumping down, the cat crouches again, now on the top of the fence, very tiger-like in appearance as before, low, flat down on the fence top, and gathers itself so for the spring, with every muscle under control. And then it does not jump clear from there to the ground, but it just slides, head first, plumb down the face of the fence for about one-third of its height, and then takes off from there with an oblique downward jump, landing with a shock reduced by one-third, at least, from the shock it would have got if it had jumped clear from the top.

"Remarkable creature, when you come to know it a little, the cat!"

Hot dogs rolled in great night-breed malarial in the body that is bilious or costive. Prickly Ash Bitters is very valuable at this time for keeping the stomach, liver and bowels well regulated. At R. C. Hardwick's.

A delicious little comedy in the September McClure's is "The Pompadour Angel" by Mary Moseley. A snow-bound Pullman car in the Jersey Bad Lands, with its quota of Pullman types—two Wall Street brokers, a bald headed old gentleman with spats, a highly conventional New York society man and rising lawyer, a highly conventional chaperon, and a would-be unconventional society girl, heart-broken for her love, and in other countries the Peters have been unlucky." Peter or Peter II., emperor of Brazil, should after an uneasy reign, and his son, Peter II., was driven to Europe by a revolution and died in Paris in 1816. Peter the Great of Russia was slain by his brother in single combat. Peter the Great of Russia was guilty of frightful excesses; his grandson, Peter II., reigned only three years and died of smallpox at the age of 15. Peter III. was deformed and strangled by conspirators. Peter I. of Serbia has already a brutal massacre behind him.

Smallest British Coin.

In the British crown colony of Hong-Kong a coin is in circulation known as the "mil." This is a tiny copper coin with a hole in the center intended to take the place of the Chinese "cash," which is one-fifth of a penny, and is in general use among the coolies in the colony. The mil is one-tenth part of a cent, one thousandth part of a dollar, and as the silver dollar in use in Hong-Kong is worth about 15.7d. it follows that the mil is worth about one-sixtieth part of a penny. This, therefore, is the value of the smallest British coin.

Committed Suicide.

While insane, Mrs. Kathleen Johnson, of New York, badly wounded her seven-year-old child in an effort to kill it, and committed suicide with the same weapon, a carving knife.

"Now good digestion waits on appetite, and health on both." It doesn't try Burdock Blood Bitters.

SHOCKED LADIES OF COURT.

Dr. Lorenz Once Bared His Feet in Presence of a Queen.

"With the gracious permission of the ladies and gentlemen here, I will remove my shoes and stockings."

The speaker, according to the New

IN HOPKINSVILLE.

Every Claim is Backed By Local Testimony.

If the reader wants stronger proof of the following statement and especially of the strength of Hopkinsville, what can it be?

James A. Twyman, brick mason, of 1230 South Virginia street, says: "Disorders of the kidneys brought me to this city so sharp and continual a attack of pain and cramps through my back that I could not rest comfortably at night and arose in the morning lame and sore. I was tired and worn out from morning to night. The kidney secretion was very strong and caused scalding and deposited a heavy sediment if allowed to stand. I had no energy left and fell generally run down. I was feeling worse than usual when a doctor was attracted by an advertisement of Dr. Lorenz, a physician of Hopkinsville, and recommended him to me. Dr. Lorenz gave me a herculean strain and Dr. Whitbeck was sent flying back ten feet. It was then that Dr. Lorenz made the observation quoted above."

When he had removed the shoes and stockings he went on with the operation, all the time talking to the spectators, as is his custom. This time he told a good story with much humor.

"It is frequently the case," he said, "that the slippiness of the floor makes it impossible for my feet to hold sure. So then I do what I have just done, and remove my shoes and my stockings. Once I was called to Madrid to operate upon the daughter of a close friend of the queen dowager of Spain, Maria Christina. It was a difficult case, and the queen desired me to be present. The hour was slippery, and I was having a hard time with my feet. The queen stood beside me and my mind was in doubt. At last I said:

"If it please your majesty, will you ask permission to remove my shoes and stockings?"

The court ladies looked at one another in astonishment, but the queen smiled.

"You are the ruler here, doctor, and I am your subject," she said.

"So I off my shoes and stockings before the queen of Spain, and the operation was successful. But I always felt that the ladies in waiting were rather shocked about it."

THE ROACH'S RUNNING RECORD

Pest of the Kitchen Quicker Than Most Other Insects.

"The cockroach is one of the fleetest members of the insect world," says a reporter, "and I often wonder if he can run faster than a man. I have seen him crawl over a smooth floor, and he has been sick for a month with what the doctors call dysentery, and could not get up to his feet. The doctor said he was not fit to work until he had recovered. I gave him immeasurable relief," says Dr. C. K. Wyly, druggist.

Shot One to Death.

As the result of a desperate fight in the Virginia mountains, near the Kentucky line, a young man named Flemmons shot one officer to death and nearly killed another. The officers were attempting to effect his capture.

As a rule a man will feel well satisfied if he can roll around on a couch for three hours, and then sprain his ankle, and it is usually two or three months before he has fully recovered. This is an unnecessary loss of time, for in many cases in which Chamberlain's Balsam has been promptly and freely applied, a complete cure is effected in less than one week's time, and in some cases within three days. For sale by C. K. Wyly, druggist.

Nearly Prostrated.

An Atlanta society girl cut off her hair while asleep and is nearly prostrated as the result of her action.

Terrific plagues, those itching, pestering diseases of the skin. Put an end to misery. Doan's Ointment cures. At any drug store.

Starved to Death.

A Kansas man starved to death while trying to cure dyspepsia by starvation.

For a bilious attack take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and a quick cure is certain. For sale by C. K. Wyly, druggist.

BRYAN WILL NOT MAKE SPEECHES.

Bryan will not make any speeches in Ohio in behalf of the ticket headed by Tom Johnson.

CASTORIA.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

By Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians in Owensboro, Ky.

Dr. C. C. Lewis, one of the most prominent physicians

Where Health and Pleasure May be Found!

Dawson Springs, Kentucky!

HOTEL - ARCADIA.

The waters are world wide in the celebrity. The Hotel, with a capacity to take care of 200 people, is situated on the Kentucky Division of the I. C. R. R., about 200 feet from the railroad station, surrounded by a beautiful maple grove. The old chalybeate well is in the yard, and the celebrated salts well about 100 yards from the Hotel. The wells are owned by the Hotel Arcadia and the guests of the Hotel have free access to them. An Italian Band will be in attendance during the entire season.

RATES.

$2 per Day! $10 per Week!
$35 per Month!

Children 10 years and under $5 per week!
Nurses and Maids $1 per day!

For further particulars apply to N. M. Holman & Co.

HOTEL ARCADIA. Dawson Springs, Ky.

New Tin Shop.

Roofing, Guttering, Repairing, Roof
Painting, Stove Repairing, Etc.

All - Tin - Work - Guaranteed

For one year. Prices Reasonable. Special Atten-tention given to shop repair work. Estimates on work cheerfully furnished.

PROMPT SERVICE!

HONEST WORK.

L. E. Adwell,

Phone 18 or 491. Virginia St., Between 7th and 8th.

Call On

J. K. TWYMAN.

You Will Find a Complete Line of Staple and Fancy Groceries.

Country Produce

BOUGHT AND SOLD.

Your Trade Appreciated.

Free Delivery.

209 South Main Street. Phone 27!

THE

Giant Insurance Agency.

Writes Fire, Tornado, Life, Bond and other kinds of Insurance.

Negotiating Loans a Specialty.

Parties wishing to borrow small or large sums can usually get what they want at this office. No patron has ever invested a dollar through this Agency that was not well secured and which did not prove good.

T. W. Long, Walter Kelly, Guy Starling,
President. General Manager. Sec'y. and Treas.

Seven experienced teachers, each one a specialist in his line. Graduates of this college preferred by business houses. We are now in our best housed northeast corner of Second and Walnut streets, the finest and best arranged school building in the South. Individual instruction. School in session all year, students can enter at any time. Visitors always welcome.

E. J. WRIGHT, Pres.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. Seven Million boxes sold in past 12 months.

Cures Grip in Two Days, on every box. 25c.

Illinois Central R. R.

Of Interest to STOCKHOLDERS.

Free Transportation to Attend the Annual Meeting at Chicago.

COMPENSATIONS.

What's the sky be thraw'ning,
And the clouds be gath'ring fast;
The sun will shine resplendent
When the clouds have past.

What's your heart be broached,
And care mark your furrowed brow?
The anger will guard your pillow
And pierce you through somehow.

What's the your soul be deadened,
With the pain that you have seen?
Pain does not last forever,
And your eyes cannot always weep.

What's the you're poor and lonely,
And the path seems hard to tread;
Then you'll wake up in the dark,
Than to wake with a thorn-crown'd head.

What's the you die forgotten,
Left beneath the fresh green sod;
Your son's name is on the boughage,
Fetes straight to the living Ocean.

— Homer, in "Ode to Int. Ocean."

CHESS GAME WITH LIVING CHESSMEN.

BY GEORGE E. WALSH.

"This happened before you boys were born," Uncle Harry asserted, stretching himself in the easy chair.

"It was when I was quite a youngster myself. I didn't have as easy a time of it then as boys of to-day. I had to earn my living when I was 13, and before I was 16 I had been around the world twice. I wasn't a cabin passenger, either, but simply a cabin boy, which means an all-around over-worked and much-abused boy."

"When I was nearly 16 we had a wreck on one of the islands in the Indian ocean, and we were all washed ashore. There were 16 of us in the crew, including one young fellow who was considered half a idiot, but who always made plenty of fun for the men in the forecastle. When we picked ourselves up on the beach we found we had jumped from the frying pan into the fire. There stood several hundred yellow enthralls armed to the teeth with sticks, knives and swords. At first they acted as if they intended to kill us, but their chief came down and ordered us to be carried away to prison."

"We were thankful for that, but the prison was such a dirty place that we nearly died in it. I think we would all have been executed if it had not been for Stranger, the one we called the half idiot, who had in some way attracted the chief's attention. Before we knew it he was actually serving as court jester and entertaining his majesty. He was a good musician and a good player of all games. He was particularly an expert at chess."

"Now as it happened, his majesty was also an expert chess player. This game, you know, is an oriental one, and it was played in the far east long before America was discovered. Well, this chief had learned to play it some where, and he was passionately fond of it. Stranger could give him points in the game, however, even though he was wise enough never to beat the old chief. He would give him the hardest game he could, but always at the very end, he would make a move which would let the chief win. This pleased the chief if he spent nearly every afternoon playing chess with Stranger. Then he grew so boastful of his skill that he challenged Stranger to play for any wish he liked. If he won the wish would be granted."

"Then, your majesty," Stranger said, "we will play for the lives of my men. If we win they are to come forth from the prison and be given their liberty. But if you win—"

"Ah, ha!" shouted the chief. "You have said it. If you lose they shall be executed at once."

"Stranger tittered a little pale and demurred, but the chief insisted upon the compact. 'I shall save your life,' the chief added, 'if you lose, for I want you to play chess with, but your friends must all die.'

"But if I win do I go free with the men, too?"

"The chief scowled and thought a moment, and then he said: 'Yes, you may go with them, too. But you will not win.'

"So the great game of chess was planned, and the chief, to make it more impressive, called a holiday for it. More than that, he decided that it should be a game with human players. In the public squares he ordered a big chess board to be laid off with black and white places for the players to stand on. Then around this square he had seats erected for his courtiers and favorites. Next he caused a sort of chair of state to be erected on one side, overlooking the whole scene, and another opposite for Stranger. In these chairs the two players were to sit while they played their strange game of chess."

"We were all led forth from our vile prison one day and conducted to the square, where a crowd was assembled. We had no idea of the important game, nor of the responsibility placed upon Stranger's shoulders. We took our places upon the white squares, while the chief ordered some of his dusky warriors to take positions on the black squares.

"We were all arranged then for actual playing. It was a rather picturesque sight from the chief's high point of view, but the horrible import of the whole performance gradually dawned upon us, and we had no eyes for the beauty or picturesqueness of the scene. We watched Stranger with pale faces, while that individual returned our gaze stonily and coolly. He was playing for a terrible stake, and 15 lives depended upon the skill of his moves. The chief was no mean player, although ordinarily Stranger could easily have beaten him, but the anxiety of his position seemed to tell severely on him. He played apparently with reckless haste, making blunders that brought forth harsh laughs from the chief and wild shouts from the spectators. One by one Stranger's pawns were captured and removed from the board. Then one of his castles followed, and next a knight. His king was also nearly cornered, so that for a time it looked as if it was caught. The old chief had the word 'check' already framed on his lips when Stranger seemed to pull himself together with an effort, and by a dexterous move extricated his king from its perilous position."

"The game then proceeded more slowly. Stranger studied the dusky warriors of his opponent as they stood in their positions on the queen chess board. He moved the few remaining fellows of his crew with slowness and precision. I had been selected as a knight, and I found myself time and again brought into close proximity to the chief's knight that I feared for my freedom. But in some strange way Stranger always brought me out of the dangerous position, and by far-sighted planning gave me a chance to capture some of the pawns of the enemy.

"My greatest triumph came when I captured in a double play the chief's bishop and castle. Nothing could have made me feel happier at that moment, and I could see the chief's soul with anger and determination. The loss of these men made the battle more equal, and the chief grew nervous and restless. His fingers played feverishly with his long tonic, and his mustache was twisted and twirled several times between each play. His warriors also lost their cheerful manners and no longer shouted when he made a move.

"But Stranger was like a sphinx. He was sobs and serious, and his eyes were glued upon the player before him. I thought he often looked at me with a queer expression, and even when he was watching his opponent play a gleam from the corner of his eye appeared to take me in. Was he, after all, merely playing with the king to give him the impression that it was a hard-fought game? I began to believe that he was only fooling with his antagonist, and that the game was well within his hand. This suspicion was further confirmed by the way he eyed me. I felt certain that he had selected me for the sharp work, and that he was planning a grand coup which would end the game. I grew more confident at this and breathed easier.

"But following this came a series of mishaps or mistakes which raised the hopes of the bloodthirsty warriors around. Four pawns, a castle, and a bishop were swept in rapid succession from the chess board. I fairly gasped in surprise at this, coming soon after my confidence in Stranger's strategy. The shouts of approval which rent the air made me feel faint and dizzy. I looked around. There were barely half a dozen of my crew left on board. The others had all been captured. The game was surely lost, and our lives would pay the penalty.

"The old chief in his glee made two rapid moves to corner Stranger's king and queen. Stranger appeared frightened and demoralized. Then he quickly made a few moves, and in a voice that seemed plaintively modest and frightened, he said:

"Your majesty is checked!"

"The chief uttered a sort of growl and moved his king to one side. Stranger followed up his advantage, and called 'check' again. In some mysterious way Stranger had arranged his few remaining men so that they seemed suddenly to close in upon the chief's cornered king. In vain the old man studied the puzzle, and tried to plan a way of escape. It was a trap so neatly laid and sprung that it took some time for the spectators to realize it. An intense hush fell upon the audience. The chief's face worked sparingly. He was facing defeat, but it was hard to acknowledge it. It was the first time that anyone had defeated him at his favorite game. How would he accept the defeat? Even before the game was declared finished every one of us was questioning in our mind whether the old man's promise would be redeemed. Even Stranger was in doubt, and we could see the working of his face.

"The chief bowed his head and shaded his eyes. Three times he looked up at the sky and blinked his eyes. Then he glanced coldly at his opponent seated opposite. A wave of his hand summoned one of the warriors to him. Stretching forth his arm he shouted:

"Take them away from me! I never want to see their faces again! Away with them! Away with him!"

"Was this our sentence? Did it mean immediate execution? That question also puzzled the old warrior, for he asked something in an undertone:

"No, no!" shouted the chief; "I gave my word. They shall be free. Take them away and give them their freedom. But never let me see his face again!"

"Stranger had mortally offended him in defeating him at chess, but he had also saved our lives. The old chief was bowed with grief and mortification when they led us away. An expression of pity entered Stranger's face, and for a moment it seemed as if he would face the danger of speaking to the chief and asking his pardon. But he thought better of it and walked away with us. We were conducted to the coast and placed in boats which carried us to the mainland. There we met a ship which carried us home.

"It seemed like a miraculous escape, but after all it was due entirely to Stranger's skill. He had the old chief beaten from the beginning, but he had played carefully with him to keep him from losing his temper. He was afraid even then that he would not keep his promise; but sometimes a savage has as good a sense of honor as a civilized man, and certainly one who could play such a game of chess ought to. Don't you think so, boys?"

N. Y. Times.

A REASON FOR HIS COURAGE.

The Innocent Boy Who Chose the Lesser of Two Punishments.

"Now, boy, for the last time I tell you whoever took those spectacles to come forward and own up that he did it. If he doesn't the whole class will be kept in an hour after school," he said excitedly.

"There was silence for a few minutes, says London Tit-Bits, and then Johnny Smith held up his hand and asked in an uncertain sort of voice what the boy took the spectacles would get.

"A good caning!" thundered the teacher.

"Please, sir, I took the spectacles," said Johnny.

A painful silence ensued.

Then the teacher gave the lad the promised caning.

Satisfied and out of breath, he was about to take his seat when his wife entered, bringing the spectacles. "You left the spectacles at home," said she, "and I thought I would bring them over, as you can't see without them."

"What! the spectacles?" exclaimed the school-teacher, very much astonished.

Yes, there were the spectacles beyond a doubt.

"But Johnny," said the astonished school-teacher, "how did you come to say that you hid the spectacles? It was a noble trait in your character, my boy, to sacrifice yourself to the good of the whole class, particularly when you are innocent."

"That isn't the reason why I said I took 'em," exclaimed Johnny.

"What is the reason?" asked the teacher.

"If I hadn't said I did," exclaimed Johnny. "I'd have been kept in with the whole class; and when I'm kept in I don't get any dinner, and we've got plum-pudding for dinner to-day."

How Ships Are Named.

French ships are usually named after French provinces or towns, victories, ideas or sentiments, but no French names, excepting those of great men in their history, are made use of. German ships bear the names of German rivers, ports, poets, states and characters in German literature. Spanish ships are almost invariably named after their cities or great commanders.

London Children.
In London each day 400 children are born and 250 enter school for the first time.

Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

Published Tuesday and Friday Mornings

CHAS. M. MEACHAM.

SUBSCRIPTION $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE.

Local reading notices 20 cents per line.
Special local 5 cents line each insertion.
Rates for standing advertisements furnished on application.

OFFICE 212 SOUTH MAIN STREET.

—SEPTEMBER 4, 1903—

The Murray Daily Times has been started with Boyd Wear as editor. The Ledger will also become a daily this month and with two dailies Murray will be quite metropolitan.

W. S. Sterrett, son of the late Jeff Sterrett, has assumed control of the Hawesville Plaindealer, since the death of his father. "Billy" Sterrett may be expected to make things hum.

A telegram from Jackson says Judge Hargis will leave Breathitt county and locate in Lexington. His property is said to be worth $250,000. He is one of the richest men in the mountains.

From the way Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge writes about the conviction of Caleb Powers in the Lexington Herald, he has evidently not "returned to the Democratic party" to the extent of wanting Goebel's assassins punished. Nor has he changed his opinion on Beckham's inelegibility.

The Republicans of Louisville finally induced Judge George Durrell to accept one of the judicial nominations in that city. Other nominees for judge are Temple Bodley, John Marshall, Morton V. Joyes, R. E. Woods and Henry L. Stone. Their whole ticket is made up of the best material at their command and they are preparing to make a strong fight for Jefferson county and the city of Louisville.

Nathan Stubbsfield, of Murray, Ky., inventor of the Wireless Telephone, gives public notice that the company organized to exploit his invention has gone out of existence, all rights reverting to him. He announces that a new management will soon take hold of the invention, which has been greatly improved.

The Chicago Record-Herald is the first great daily to recognize the American farmer. By setting aside two columns of space daily beginning Saturday, August 22, 1903, for the publication of news pertaining to agricultural industries, The Record-Herald has enabled the farmer to feel that he not only has a personal interest in the daily newspaper but that at least a part of it is published for him and his family.

Warrants have been issued in Livingston county, sworn out by H. V. McChesney, Superintendent of Public Instruction, against Young E. Allison, editor and Geo. Riley, Frankfort correspondent of the Louisville Herald, charging them with criminal libel on account of statements in the herald that McChesney used school funds to pay his traveling expenses in the recent campaign, and that extra clerk hire had been paid without warrant of law.

The Courier Journal is authority for the statement that the last three governors have pardoned 1131 convicts, of whom 247 were released before they ever got to the penitentiary. This is an average of one hundred pardons a year, to say nothing of the paroles that amount to the same thing, so far as a res-by local applications as they cannot reach the increased portion of the ear. There is but one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or impeded breathing. It is almost entirely closed. Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal bearing will be destroyed forever. Cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is not just an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by catarrh. Cataract Cure. Send for circulars.

J. CHESEY & CO., Toledo.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Impaired Digestion

May not be all that is meant by dyspepsia now, but it will be if neglected. It is a common complaint, fits of nervous headache, sourness of the stomach, and disagreeable belching may not be very bad now, but they will be if the stomach is suffered to grow weaker.

Dyspepsia is such a miserable disease that the tendency to it should be given early attention. This is completely overcome by which strengthens the whole digestive system tortion to liberty is concerned. The agitation of this question is liable to accomplish good, if it causes the next legislature to take the pardoning power away from the governor and place it in the hands of a commission. If such a law as this were in force, the pardoning of criminals would not be made an issue in state campaigns. The strongest claim upon public support the Democratic ticket has this year, in the absence of a platform, is the fear that Belknap, if elected, would pardon Republican convicts.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

More Riots.

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse, unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. There's nothing so efficient to cure disorders of the liver or kidneys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, effective nerve and the greatest all around medicine for rundown systems. It dispels nervousness, rheumatism and neuralgia and expels malaria germs. Only 50c, and satisfaction guaranteed by R. C. Hardwick, druggist.

SEASHORE VISITORSNearly All of Them Returned This Week.

Nearly all of the Old Point Comfort excursionists have returned, the ticket limit having expired Wednesday night. The trip was a most delightful one in every respect and all were well pleased. There were about 260 in the party, the crowd being the largest but one that ever went from this section to the seashore.

Tragedy Averted.

"Just in the nick of time our little boy was saved," writes Mrs. W. Watkins of Pleasant City, Ohio. "Pneumonia had played sad havoc with him and a terrible cough set in besides. Doctors treated him, but he grew worse every day. At length we tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was saved. He's now sound and well." Every body ought to know, it's the only sure cure for coughs, colds and all Lung diseases. Guaranteed by R. C. Hardwick, druggist. Price 50c and $1. Trial bottles free.

SEBREE FAIRBegins Sept. 22 and Will Continue Five Days.

Work on the Sebree fair grounds is about completed and everything will be in readiness by Sept. 22, the opening day. This will be the first fair ever held at Sebree and the occasion promises to be a big one. The L. & N. will grant half fare rates. The fair will last five days. A large number from this city will attend.

It Saved His Leg.

P. A. Danforth, of Lagrange, Ga., suffered for six months with a frightful running sore on his leg; but writes that Bucklin's Arnica Salve wholly cured it in five days. For ulcers, wounds, piles, it's the best salve in the world. Cure guaranteed. Only 25 cts. Sold by R. C. Hardwick, druggist.

A Note of Warning.

The methods adopted by the young men at Frankfort are not calculated to bring votes to the Democratic ticket. One newspaper man has been knocked down and two others arrested for criminal libel as a starter and the campaign has not commenced.—Owensboro Inquirer.

Cross-Piece.

John Cross, of Guthrie, and Miss Ora Pace, of Clarksville, were married at the home of the bride Sunday. They will make their home in Guthrie.

BIG ADDITIONTo South Kentucky College to Be Made Next Year.*Plans for a New Front to Increase the Capacity Fifty Rooms.

Architect Jas. L. Long has completed the plans for a new addition to the main building of South Kentucky College that will add about fifty rooms to the capacity of the building. The addition is to be in front with the general shape of a horseshoe. The new front will be octagon shaped and two stories high, with basement. The first floor will be reached by a flight of stone steps fifty feet long at the bottom and narrowing to the arched entrance to the hallway. There will be a commodious court in the center of the new building. The old building in three stories high, while the new addition will be two, giving a gothic appearance to the whole structure. The present building will be remodeled and furnished after the ensuing season is over. The work will be begun in the spring and the estimated cost will be about $30,000. The addition of 50 rooms will about double the boarding capacity of the college. The success of this old and popular institution has been phenomenal under its present management, Profs. A. C. Kykuyell and H. Clay Smith have built up the school to an enrollment of more than 200 pupils.

Working Overtime.

Eight hour days are ignored by those tireless little workers—Dr. King's New Life Pills. Millions are always at work, night and day, curing indigestion, biliousness, constipation, Sick headache, and all stomach, liver and bowel troubles. Easy, pleasant, safe, sure. Only 25c at R. C. Hardwick's drug store.

COMBS' DAUGHTER TO W.E.D.Kentucky Girl Will Marry a German Officer in Guatemala.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 31.—An engagement has reached here of Lexingon, Ky., daughter of Leslie Combs, minister to Guatemala, and Herman Stüber, a German army officer. They will marry in Guatemala.

If you eat without appetite you need Prickly Ash Bitters. It promptly removes impurities that clog and impede the action of the digestive organs, creates good appetite and digestion, strength of body and activity of brain. At R. C. Hardwick's.

ENTERTAINEDIn Honor of Her Guests From Casky.

Miss Mildred Humphries entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of her mother, on West Eighteenth street, in honor of the Misses Dilman, of Casky. The occasion proved a most enjoyable one to the large crowd of young people present.

Situation in Turkey.

Constantinople, Turkey, Sept. 1.—Five arrests have been made in connection with the Magdelessen incident. Three hundred insurgents slaughtered a number of Turks at Monastir and anarchy practically reigns in many sections.

Shooting in Jackson County.

Mckie, Ky., Sept. 1.—A man named Isaacs was shot and killed in Jackson county, Ky., by a man named Cronk. No details.

Transfer of Real Estate.

S. B. Ficken has sold his house and lot on Water street, in the Leavell addition, to M. T. Bartley, who has moved into the house. Mr. Ficken will leave at once with his family for Redlands, California. The price paid was $1,600.

Sebree Against Saloons.

Sebree, Ky., Aug. 31.—In the whisky election held here today 297 votes were cast, 213 against the saloon and 84 for it—a majority of 132 for the Prohibitionists.

I.W. HARPER
KENTUCKY WHISKEY

Gold medals were also awarded at the World's Fair
in Chicago.

Sold by W. R. Long, druggist, etc.

If you don't buy Clothing from J. T. Wall & Co. you don't buy Clothing RIGHT!

The New Fall Styles

Are now ready and a full display WE have.

No matter how hard you are to please.

More HAWES $3.00 Stiff Hats are worn than any other make known.

Call and see these beautiful Hats.

J. T. Wall & Co.
ONE PRICE STORE

BusinessNotice.

We wish to inform our friends and the public, that we are in the carriage business. Place of business, corner Virginia and Ninth Streets, opposite the Postoffice.

We have opened this store with a complete line of up-to-date, very latest styles of all kinds of vehicles made to our special order, to suit the people, and bought in car lots to get the very lowest factory prices, to enable us to sell at the very lowest. We have a complete line of Oak Tanned Harness Fine Whips and Handsome Dusters. We will keep in stock, for the convenience of vehicle owners, a line of Carriage Extras, such as Coach Oil, Axle Wrenches, Poles, Shafts, Axle Washers, Lamps, Whip Sockets Yokes, Shaft Antirollers, Hitch Lines, Etc. We will appreciate your patronage. Come and See Us.

Yours truly,

W. T. Bonete.

Illinois Central Railway.TIME TABLE

No. 328, daily.	No. 340.
Lv. Hopkinsville 6:40 a.m.	Daily except Sunday.
Ar. Princeton 7:40 "	Lv. Hopkinsville 4:30 p.m.
Ar. Paducah 9:25 "	Ar. Princeton 6:30
.. Cairo 11:35 "	Lv. Princeton 3:03 a.m.
St. Louis 5:16 p.m.	" Louisville 7:50 "
Chicago 10:00 "	" Princeton 2:23 "
No. 334, Daily.	Ar. Memphis 8:20 "
Lv. Hopkinsville 11:30 a.m.	" New Orleans 7:55 p.m.
Ar. Princeton 1:30 "
Henderson 5:30 "
Evansville 6:15 "
Princeton 12:43 "
Lv. Louisville 5:35 p.m.
Ar. Princeton 2:47 p.m.
Ar. Paducah 5:30 "
Memphis 10:50 "
New Orleans 10:00 a.m.	No. 341, daily except Sunday, arrives 7:50 a.m.
No. 335, Sunday only.	" 10:35 "
No. 333, daily.	" 3:20 p.m.
No. 331, daily.	" 11:10 p.m.
F. W. HARLOW, D. P. A., Louisville.	E. M. SHERWOOD, Agent, Hopkinsville.

Half-Sick

"I first used Ayer's Sarsaparilla in the fall of 1848. Since then I have taken it every spring as a blood-purifying and nerve-strengthening medicine."

S. T. Jones, Wichita, Kans.

If you feel run down, are easily tired, if your nerves are weak and your blood is thin, then begin to take the good old standard family medicine, Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

It's a regular nerve lifter, a perfect blood builder. $1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

Ask your doctor what he thinks of Ayer's Sarsaparilla as a blood-purifying and nerve-strengthening medicine. Follow his advice and we will send you a sample.

J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

ELECTION COMMISSIONERS.

State Board Elects and Appoints the Commissioners for Counties.

The state board of election commissioners met at Frankfort Monday and appointed the county election commissioners. The board is composed of Sam Shackelford, clerk of the court of appeals; Chas. B. Poyszt for the Democrats, and George Denny for the Republicans. The election commissioners for the counties composing the Second congressional district are as follows:

Christian—Democrat, W. T. Cooper; Republican, A. H. Anderson.

Davies—Democrat, R. E. Berry; Republican, R. W. Slack.

Hancock—Democrat, W. W. Taylor; Republican, M. H. Bruner.

McLean—Democrat, J. W. Beeler; Republican, E. W. McEuen.

Henderson—Democrat, S. A. Young; Republican, E. G. Seabeck.

Hopkins—Democrat, F. A. Johnson; Republican, John G. White.

Union—Democrat, Sid Hubbard; Republican, W. J. Wilkie.

TWO NEW BANKS.

One at Crofton and Other at White Plains.

Articles incorporating the Bank of Crofton were filed here this week, and the concern will probably begin business about the first of next year. The incorporators are Messrs. A. B. Croft, John M. Duliu R. W. Trotter, of Crofton, and W. T. Williamson, T. J. Tate and Judge W. T. Fowler, of this city. The bank is capitalized at $15,000. An elegant two-story brick will be erected.

A new bank will also be opened at White Plains about Oct. 1. This financial institution will be known as the Farmers' Bank and has a capital stock of $15,000. The stockholders met a few days ago and elected officers. W. T. Crafton was chosen president, C. B. Dillingham, vice-president, and G. O. Prowse, cashier.

BOB BURDETTE'S WIFE

Appointed Special Police Officer in Pasadena.

Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, wife of the famous humorist, has been appointed a special police officer in and for the city of Pasadena, Cal., where she resides. She is the first woman to receive such an appointment in that State.

Mrs. Burdette is a member of the newly organized Pasadena Society for the Protection of Animals. The appointment is at her request, it being her determination to rescue dogs, cats, horses and other animals from abuse and persecution at the hands of thoughtless and mischievous boys, and from their cruel and inconsiderate masters.

Her husband is a member of the police commission in Pasadena.

Capt. Albritton Dead.

R. A. Albritton, formerly captain of "L," of this city, died of flux last Thursday morning. He was a son of W. B. Albritton, and resided about four miles South of Murray. He served in the late Spanish American war and was in the Philippines a good long time.

He was about twenty-five years old and left a loving wife, the daughter of J. W. Hicks, to mourn his death—Murray Times.

THE PALMA TROPHY

Recently Taken from England by American Riflemen.

An International Shooting Prize That Has Been Won by This Country, Canada and England—Presented by America.

The Palma trophy, donated by the riflemen of the United States to the riflemen of the world, comes back to us again. The rifles of our soldiers sharpshooters and the rifles of our army and national guard recently met the cracks of England, South Africa, Canada and Australia at the rifle range of the English army at Bisley, and have returned to this country. The English one of the hardest fought contests of skill at rifle shooting ever witnessed.

While the Palma trophy has figured in several of these international rifle contests but little is known of it by the public, the contest being considered too difficult for general interest. The result was a tie.

The National Rifle Association of America was organized in 1872 by members of the army and the national guard. The following year a challenge was issued to teams from the military service of other countries, and the challenge was accepted by a team from Ireland. Both teams did some wonderful shooting, and it was not until the last shot was fired that the winner was known. That last shot was a bull's eye, and had it been a miss it would have been a tie, as it was the final score stood 334 points for America, 321 for Ireland.

In 1876 the riflemen of the army and national guard in this country conceived the idea of an international shooting competition as a feature of the centennial celebration of that year. To encourage teams from other countries to come to America and participate in this memorable competition the Palma trophy was purchased. The American team won it and the trophy stayed in America. The challenge to the world remained upon all comers, but it was not until 1901 that the trophy left the hands of the first winners and passed beyond our borders.

THE PALMA TROPHY.

In that year the glove thrown down by the American riflemen was covered by the Canadians, whose champions proceeded to Sea Girt, N. J., on September 5, and won an exciting meeting by 29 points, the winning team scoring 1,622, and the trophy defenders 1,493.

As one of the conditions under which the trophy is competed for renders it obligatory for the following year's competitor to be shot to the crown of the holder. In 1902 the British team, under Mr. T. F. Freemann, and an American team, under Brig. Gen. Bird Spence, proceeded to Ottawa, and on September 13 brought off a finely contested competition under not altogether agreeable circumstances.

On that occasion the British team won, and the trophy was carried to England. But the English Tommy was permitted to view the result of his prowess for only one year, for the American team, captained by Col. Leslie C. Brown, and including Mr. W. H. Morris, the British team, under Mr. T. F. Freemann, and an American team, under Brig. Gen. Bird Spence, proceeded to Ottawa, and on September 13 brought off a finely contested competition under not altogether agreeable circumstances.

On that occasion the British team won, and the trophy was carried to England. But the English Tommy was permitted to view the result of his prowess for only one year, for the American team, captained by Col. Leslie C. Brown, and including Mr. W. H. Morris, the British team, under Mr. T. F. Freemann, and an American team, under Brig. Gen. Bird Spence, proceeded to Ottawa, and on September 13 brought off a finely contested competition under not altogether agreeable circumstances.

With respect to the trophy itself, which is fashioned "after the style of the battle flags of the Roman Legions," at the suggestion of Gen. Martin McMurtry, the trophy was first made in 1876. It is perhaps more remarkable than beautiful. Standing seven feet six inches in height, this unique banner is composed of gold, silver, copper, steel and iron. The eagle that is mounted on the spear is one foot high, and is composed of burnished copper, while the bar upon which it perches is of solid iron, coppered, the word "Palma" (almost obliterated by severe wreath) being written in raised silver letters. The spear, apart from the fringe which is of gold, the inscription, which is of silver, and the gold tracery, is made of solid iron, as, indeed, is the staff, which, however, boats copper fillets.

MANN OWEN.

THE NEW EGYPT.

Progress in the Land of the Ancient Pharaohs.

Cinderella sitting in the ashes, Cinderella clad in silks and satins and richly bedecked with jewel—whence came the change? Egypt languishing in misery, Egypt filled with new hope, new industry, new wealth—whose work was this? In the one case, says the Boston Transcript, a good fairy waved her wand; in the other a British diplomatic agent—Lord Cromer—told ten years with all the strength that was in him. And now that Lord Cromer's newest report has reached London all England is as thoroughly aroused as if the result were a work of magic.

A decade ago England saw bankruptcy staring her in the face. Lady Duff Gordon wrote: "I cannot describe the misery here now—every day some new tax. The fellow can no longer eat bread. The taxation makes life almost impossible."

The people are running away by wholesale." Of those sorry times another observer says: "The peasant went about his daily task with bowed and trembling heart, starting with fright if addressed by a person of superior rank." Justice was unknown, corruption prevalent. The body politic suffered from a shattered constitution, every organ diseased. The native was still living in the stone age. And then came Lord Cromer's active measures for reconstruction. Result?

Stability is given to the whole situation. Egyptian credit restored, Egyptian capital attracted, the value of trade doubled, financial conditions (by vast drainage and irrigation works) made independent of the vicissitudes of the seasons, 1,400 square miles of land added to the cultivated area, taxes lightened, justice established, education advanced, the currency system practically abolished, disease reduced to a short, a new Egypt evolved out of the wreckage of ages.

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bore heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bore heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream from which there may be a rude awakening. During my sojourn in Egypt I saw an offending prince within the walls of a prison and the governor of a province deposited for extorting money from the people for the purposes of public rejoicing. I saw, too, taxes removed which bear heavily on the laboring population. I feel proud then of the work done in Egypt by England, and of the great Englishman to whom the Egyptian peasant owes so great a debt. Still more eloquent is Lord Milner's tribute to Lord Cromer: "He has realized that the essence of our policy is to help the Egyptians to work out as far as possible, their own salvation. And not only has he realized this himself, but he has taught others to realize it. The contrast between Egypt to-day and Egypt as he found it, the enhanced reputation of England in matters Egyptian are the measure of the signal services he has rendered alike to his own country and to the country where he has laid the foundations of a lasting fame." The poor fellow bears the period of Lord Cromer's regime "the time of blessing."

Mr. J. F. Woodcock, writing of Lord Cromer's new Egypt, says: "The transformation of Egypt since the British occupation is more wonderful than any story that oriental imagination could conceive. The fellow can hardly realize that they are not living in some pleasant dream

MEAT & MALT

THE IDEAL TONIC AND RECONSTRUCTIVE.

There's Life and Strength in Every Drop.
A scientific combination of the vital constituents of PRIME BEEF and PURE OLD MALT.

Louisville, Ky., January 1, 1904.
MEAT & MALT CO., Louisville, Ky.
General Manager—J. C. W. BECKHAM. Malt preparation, and being thoroughly acquainted with the science of brewing, he can assure you that it is an efficient and sound process. It is especially useful in various diseases and all diseases attended with debility.

L. D. KASTENHEINE, M.D.
Louisville College of Pharmacy.

MEAT & MALT CO., Louisville, Ky.

WITHIN REACH

Immediate relief from all the suffering caused by aching teeth.

By our system of
PAINELESS DENTISTRY

the offending member can be extracted without inconvenience, but we advise against this if filling or crowning will bring about the same results and save the tooth.

Our methods make dentistry excellent as well as pleasant.

Painless Extracting 25c.

A Good Set of Teeth $5.

Fillings 75c

LOUISVILLE

DENTAL PARLORS,

Corner Court and Main Streets,
HOPKINSVILLE, KY.

Telephone 168-3.

THE Mutual Benefit

LIFE
Insurance Co.,

Newark, N. J.
Frederick Frelinghuysen, Pres.

Total paid Policies holders $500,000,000

Losses paid in Kentucky over $5,000.
000.

K. W. SMITH & CO., STATE AGENTS,

506 W. Main St., Louisville, Ky.

Wallace & Moore, Agents a Hopkinsville, Ky.

Nothing has ever equalled it.
Nothing can ever surpass it.

Dr. King's New Discovery
For CONSUMPTION Price
COUGHES and GOLD. $1.00

A Perfect For All Throat and Cure: Lung Troubles.
Money back if it fails. Trial Bottles Free.

Madam French Pills.
A safe, certain relief for Suppressed
Menses, New-born Women, Sore
Throats! Satisfaction Guaranteed or Money Refund. Send for Circular. Write to Dr. King,
110 W. Main St., Louisville, Ky.
DRAGHORN'S PRACTICAL BUSINESS COLLEGE

Nothing has ever equalled it.
Nothing can ever surpass it.

Democratic Ticket.

State.

Governor—J. C. W. BECKHAM.
Lieutenant Governor—W. P. THORNE, Jr.
Secretary of State—J. C. W. BECKHAM.
Treasurer—H. M. BOSWORTH.
Attorney General—N. B. HARRIS.
Sup. Com. of Education—J. M. MCCHESNEY.
Sup. Pub. Instruction—J. M. FUGUA.
Sup. of Public Works—VANCE L. DODD.
Clerk Court of Appeals—J. M. CHINN.

district.

Railroad Commissioner—J. M. MURKIN.
Circuit Judge—T. P. COOK.
Commonwealth's Attorney—D. P. SMITH.

Professional Cards.

NEEEEEEEEEE

Jas. I. LACKEE.

Jas. B. Allenworth

LANDES & ALLENWORTH,

ATTORNEYS-at-LAW.

Office in Melchen Building, near Court House

Corner of Main and Court Streets, Louisville.

COURT SPECIAL ATTENTION TO COLLECTIONS.

HENRY E. HOLTON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW.

Office Court Square

Hopkinsville, Ky.

Douglas Bell,

ATTORNEY AT LAW.

OFFICE IN CITY HALL,

HOPKINSVILLE, KENTUCKY.

Hampton Fox,

ATTORNEY AT LAW

And Teacher of Book-Keeping, Short-hand and Typewriting. Guarantee Satisfaction to Individuals in business.

Office, North Main St., Yents Building.

C. H. TANDY,

DENTIST.

Office over First National Bank

EPPENSTINE, KY.

DRS. OLDHAM,

Osteopathic Physicians.

Graduates under the founder of the science.

Office 22 South Clay St., Consultation and examination free. Phone 264.

W. W. GRAY,

Tonsorial Artist.

West Seventh Street, Eliz Building.

Clean towels and everything fresh.

Give us a call.

L. N. TIME TABLE.

GOING NORTH.

No. 52—St. Louis Express 9:50 a.m.

No. 54—St. Louis Fast Mail 11:50 p.m.

No. 59—Cal. & St. Louis 5:40 a.m.

No. 56—Hopkinsville Ac. 8:45 p.m.

GOING SOUTH.

No. 53—St. Louis Express 5:18 p.m.

No. 55—St. Louis Fast Mail 5:40 a.m.

No. 57—Chi. & N. O. Lim. 11:55 p.m.

No. 56—Hopkinsville Ac. 8:00 a.m.

No. 52 runs through to Chicago and to all points west.

No. 53 connects at St. Louis for all points west.

No. 55 connects at Memphis, Tenn. and to Cincinnati and the East.

No. 56 connects at Eliz. and to Louisville, Cincinnati and the East.

No. 53 and 55 make direct connection at Gulf, St. Louis, New Orleans, Mobile, Pensacola, Tampa, etc.

No. 56 through to Atlanta, Macon, Jacksonville, St. Augustine and Tampa, Fla.

No. 57 through to points East and West.

No. 58 notary local passenger for points North of Vicksburg, Tenn.

J. C. HOPE, A.P.

ROUTE "E" & T. H. & C. E.

E & TH RR CO

If you are going

NORTH OR EAST

Travel via the "EVANSVILLE

ROUTE" E & T. H. & C. E.

the best equipped and most direct line to Chicago and all points reach-via Chicago

Inquiries regarding rates, time, etc.

addressed to representatives given below will receive prompt and courteous attention.

F. P. JEFFRIES, G. P. & A., Evansville, Ind.

S. L. ROGERS, General Agent, Nashville, Tenn.

Bruce Jeffries, 1 P. A., Atlanta, Ga.

POSITIONS. Guaranteed under new conditions.

May depend entirely on merit in all cases.

Securing positions, and the preference of men to whom they are given.

Name to be given to all positions.

Names to be given to all positions.

Mexican Mustang Liniment
quickly relieves and cures Piles, also prevents chafing.

Pain teaches many lessons, one of which is, use Mexican Mustang Liniment.

Mexican Mustang Liniment
cures Frost-bites, Chilblains, Chapped Hands and Face.

NATURE'S PUZZLE-PICTURE.

Profile of the General Found in Famous Washington Elm.

The famous Washington elm in front of the Wadsworth Atheneum, in Hartford, Conn., was felled the other day on account of the possibility of its being blown down.

A cross section made in one of its limbs showed it to be partly hollow and the hollow space took the shape of the familiar profile bust of Washington.

The find, says the New York World, has astonished local antiquarians and the specimen has been inspected by many thousands of people.

The Washington elm was so called because Gen. Washington and Rochambeau met under it and were afterward entertained at the house of Daniel Wadsworth. The tree had been a landmark in Hartford for over a century.

The elm stood near the corner of Main and Atheneum streets, which is the headquarters of the Connecticut Historical Society. In the spacious grounds of the Atheneum is a statue of Nathan Hale, presented by J. Pierpont Morgan.

Much regret was expressed when it was learned that the noble elm would have to go, and when the clappers went to work there was an army of hunters on hand to get souvenirs. Chips, twigs and other pieces of the tree were carried away, and sections of the trunk were preserved to be made into chairs for the Historical society.

Superintendent Philip Hensling, of the street department, was one of the relic hunters, but his patriotic desire was not satisfied with an ordinary bit of wood from the tree.

He carefully examined every limb as it was cut away to find something that would be really suggestive of Washington himself, and, curiously enough, he was rewarded by finding the profile of Washington.

Members of the Connecticut Historical society who were shown the piece could give no explanation.

Researches have shown that this is one of the very few such things that have happened in the world. Though there are authentic records of a few portraits made by nature in the grain of marble, this portrait in wood is regarded by those who have seen it as more wonderful than anything else in the kind.

Stomach Trouble.

"I have been troubled with my stomach for the past four years," says Dr. L. M. Chamberlain, of Brook Farm, Greenfield, Mass. "A few days ago I was induced to buy a box of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. I have taken part of them and a great deal better. If you have trouble with your stomach try a box of these tablets. You are certain to be pleased with the result. Price 25 cents. For sale by C. K. Wily, druggist."

Bright Prospects.

According to a statement made in New York by Lord Mayor Dillon of Dublin, Ireland, who is the brightest prospect before her in the history of her existence.

No need to fear sudden attacks of colic, flatulent, dyspeptic, diarrhoeal, surfeited condition of the body if you have Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry in the medicine chest.

Serious Trouble.

The United States marines and a number of citizens at Annapolis have been involved in serious trouble recently, and more clashes are feared.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25¢.

Coldest on Record.

The past summer has been the coldest on record in the office of the weather bureau in New York.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bear the Signature of Pat H. Fletcher

Fine Accident.

One man was killed and another probably fatally injured in a mine accident near Cameron, Col.

ITALIAN SAINTS' DAYS

They Are Brought to Our Shores by the Immigrants.

Ten Annual Festivals Are Celebrated in Gorgona Style in the Italian Quarter of Every Large City in That Country.

How ever much the Italian who comes to our land from the sunny shores of Italy may change and adapt himself to the customs and conditions of his adopted country, he does not forget the religious customs of the home land, and to this fact we owe the popularity of Italy with which he has been familiar from his boyhood.

In every Italian quarter in the large cities of the country this fact is strikingly manifest; in fact, as a worker in one of the Italian districts of New York remarked, after making a study of the festivals and their celebrations: "I cannot tell where one leaves off and another begins."

From this it must not be supposed that the same uninterrupted succession of religious feasts is prevalent in all the towns in Italy, but the observation is found in the fact that people from widely separated parts of Italy are gathered together in the same district, and as they are as many as three or four thousand.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and

the same town has its own particular saint.

It is the same with the religious feasts in the same town, but the same town has its own particular saint, and the same town has its own

Here and There.

Dr. Yates fits glasses.
Bubonic plague is steadily declining in Chili.

Miss Annie Peck, of New York, has successfully ascended the highest peak in the Andes.

Dr. E. N. Fruitt, Dentist, office over City Bank, Hopkinsville, Ky. "Uncle Andy" Montgomery, 117 years old, and the only negro ever owned by the State of Georgia, is dead.

At Baldwin, L. L., a deputy sheriff killed one burglar, fatally wounded a second, and captured two others.

Mrs. Mary Lang, who gave her fortune to persons in need, and who refused to help her, committed suicide in a Brooklyn hospital.

The engagement is announced in London of Miss May Goeltz, the New York heiress, to the Duke of Roxburgh.

At Chicago a deaf mute had a quarrel in written conversation with his wife and at its climax shot her, perhaps fatally.

Hot days followed by cool nights will breed malaria in the body that is bilious or costive. Prickly Ash Bitters is very valuable at this time for keeping the stomach, liver and bowels well regulated. At R. C. Hardwick's.

At Joplin, Mo., the 2 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fullerton, of Shreveport, La., was kidnapped from a Kansas City Southern train and in his place was left a horribly deformed infant.

S. P. Mitchell, president of the Negro National Industrial Council, is charged with swindling ex-slaves by promising them pensions under the proposed Hanna bill.

Those desiring life insurance will find it to their interest to investigate the plans and record of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company of Newark, N. J., No stockholders. All profits divided among policy holders. It is conspicuous for economical management, liberality of its policy contract, fair-dealing with its members and large annual dividends to reduce cost of your insurance.

WALLACE & MOORE, Agents.

An armed man who persisted in his demands to see President Roosevelt, was arrested at Oyster Bay. It is believed he is a dangerous lunatic.

Freezers At Cost.

Not wanting to carry over any Freezers, have decided to sell what I have on hand at Cost FOR CASH. My stock consists of White Mountain, Peerless, Frezo and the Wonder, all good Freezers. Come early before they are all gone.

JACK MEADOR,
No. 8 Main Street,
Thompson Block,
Hopkinsville - Kentucky.

S. C. BUCKNER, WALTER KNIGHT,
Plasterers' Insurance Agt. Lawyer.

Buckner & Co.,
Real Estate Agents.
Buy and Sell City and Farm Property.

OFFICE NO. 5 N. MAIN ST.

MRS. J. M. CAMPBELL, Agent.
General Insurance.

Fire, Life, Accident and Tornado.
Office Over Plasterers' Bank & Trust Co.
Hopkinsville - Kentucky.

WORST ON RECORD

Will be Month of September,
Says Marsh.

Violent Thunderstorms and Extreme Heavy Rainfall Followed by Frost and Snow.

Following is a summary of weather forecasts for the month by Marsh, the Ohio prophet:

The month of September will be a great storm month, with changeable temperature. Hot to cool waves prevailing; some very hot days during the month, with cooler nights and mornings. Violent thunderstorms and extremely heavy rainfall will prevail generally throughout the country, accompanied by cyclonic winds. The storms will be most violent and the rainfall the heaviest over the Ohio Valley, covering the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and over the Eastern and New England States. Violent storms will occur on the Atlantic Ocean and along the entire Atlantic coast and over the Southern and Gulf States.

The equinoctial storms occurring between the 19th and 24th will be very severe over the entire country, causing great damage and destruction to property. Much damage will be done by severe storms and extremely heavy rainfall over the West, Northwest and Southwest, and all states west of the Mississippi River, the storms will be severe over the states of Iowa, Nebraska, Wisconsin, Missouri, Dakotas and Minnesota. The extremely heavy rainfall over Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska will cause floods. Floods will occur over the Eastern and New England States, over the Ohio Valley and Tennessee and the Southern and Gulf States. In all, the month of September will be the worst storm and flood month on record for September.

General Forecast.

Between the 6th and 12th high temperature and severe storms will prevail. General severe electrical storms, with high wind and heavy rainfall over the Eastern States, causing damage and much destruction along the North Atlantic Coast.

Between the 13th and 15th severe storms will again prevail over the Eastern and New England States and coasts, and on the Atlantic Ocean. Rain, wind and thunder storms over the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia.

Between the 17th and 21st heavy rain storms, accompanied by high wind and lightning over the Ohio Valley and Tennessee and over Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, and generally over the Ohio River Valleys and over the Missouri and Mississippi Valleys.

Between the 22d and 25th equinoctial storms will occur, severe, with heavy rainfall covering greater portion of the country. Terrific rain storms over the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee, Pittsburgh and headwaters of the Ohio and the mountain districts.

Between 27th and 30th warm to cool wave; very cool weather, with heavy frost north of the lake regions. Storms; heavy rains, followed by cooler weather and frost over Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and the mountain districts. The temperature will be at freezing point, with frost and snow over the Rocky Mountain regions, and below freezing in the extreme Northwest.

MARRIED,

But Will Live Apart For a Year.

St. Paul, Minn.—Charles Lapin, of Chicago, and Lena Jaffee, St. Paul, were married here to-day with the distinct understanding that they were not to live together for a year. They were to have been married in September, 1904, but fearing something might prevent them, they got married to-day to make the engagement binding upon both. The husband has deposited his savings in a St. Paul bank in his wife's name, and she has deposited hers in his name, none of it to be touched until they live together.

THOUGHT GIRL A CROW.

Farmer Kills His Daughter While Shooting At Supposed Crow.

Otsego, Mich., Sept. 1—Duncan, a well-known farmer residing north of this village, accidentally shot his daughter Mary yesterday, and she died last night from the wounds. Swan had been troubled with crows in his corn. Yesterday he saw the stalks moving, and thinking crows were in the patch again, discharged his shotgun at the moving corn. To his horror his daughter screamed, and he found that he had shot her in the breast. She was gathering corn for dinner, and her father did not know it. Swan is nearly crazed.

ELECTED REPRESENTATIVES.
Local I. O. O. F. Lodge Will Send Delegation to Lexington.

At a meeting of Green River Lodge No. 54, I. O. O. F., held Monday night, Messrs. G. H. Champine, L. H. Davis, Frank Monroe, Ellis Roper and Geo. W. Thacker were elected to represent the lodge at the Grand Lodge which meets in Lexington, Oct. 13. During the meeting at Lexington a thirty thousand dollar addition to the W. and O. Home will be dedicated.

General Forecast.

Between the 6th and 12th high temperature and severe storms will prevail. General severe electrical storms, with high wind and heavy rainfall over the Eastern States, causing damage and much destruction along the North Atlantic Coast.

Between the 13th and 15th severe storms will again prevail over the Eastern and New England States and coasts, and on the Atlantic Ocean. Rain, wind and thunder storms over the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia.

Between the 17th and 21st heavy rain storms, accompanied by high wind and lightning over the Ohio Valley and Tennessee and over Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, and generally over the Ohio River Valleys and over the Missouri and Mississippi Valleys.

Between the 22d and 25th equinoctial storms will occur, severe, with heavy rainfall covering greater portion of the country. Terrific rain storms over the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and the mountain districts.

Between 27th and 30th warm to cool wave; very cool weather, with heavy frost north of the lake regions. Storms; heavy rains, followed by cooler weather and frost over Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and the mountain districts.

Between the 22d and 25th equinoctial storms will occur, severe, with heavy rainfall covering greater portion of the country. Terrific rain storms over the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and the mountain districts.

Between the 27th and 30th warm to cool wave; very cool weather, with heavy frost north of the lake regions. Storms; heavy rains, followed by cooler weather and frost over Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and the mountain districts.

Between the 22d and 25th equinoctial storms will occur, severe, with heavy rainfall covering greater portion of the country. Terrific rain storms over the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and the mountain districts.

Between the 27th and 30th warm to cool wave; very cool weather, with heavy frost north of the lake regions. Storms; heavy rains, followed by cooler weather and frost over Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and the mountain districts.

Between the 22d and 25th equinoctial storms will occur, severe, with heavy rainfall covering greater portion of the country. Terrific rain storms over the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and the mountain districts.

Between the 27th and 30th warm to cool wave; very cool weather, with heavy frost north of the lake regions. Storms; heavy rains, followed by cooler weather and frost over Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and the mountain districts.

Between the 22d and 25th equinoctial storms will occur, severe, with heavy rainfall covering greater portion of the country. Terrific rain storms over the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and the mountain districts.

Between the 27th and 30th warm to cool wave; very cool weather, with heavy frost north of the lake regions. Storms; heavy rains, followed by cooler weather and frost over Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and the mountain districts.

Between the 22d and 25th equinoctial storms will occur, severe, with heavy rainfall covering greater portion of the country. Terrific rain storms over the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and the mountain districts.

Between the 27th and 30th warm to cool wave; very cool weather, with heavy frost north of the lake regions. Storms; heavy rains, followed by cooler weather and frost over Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and the mountain districts.

Between the 22d and 25th equinoctial storms will occur, severe, with heavy rainfall covering greater portion of the country. Terrific rain storms over the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and the mountain districts.

Between the 27th and 30th warm to cool wave; very cool weather, with heavy frost north of the lake regions. Storms; heavy rains, followed by cooler weather and frost over Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and the mountain districts.

Between the 22d and 25th equinoctial storms will occur, severe, with heavy rainfall covering greater portion of the country. Terrific rain storms over the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and the mountain districts.

Between the 27th and 30th warm to cool wave; very cool weather, with heavy frost north of the lake regions. Storms; heavy rains, followed by cooler weather and frost over Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and the mountain districts.

Between the 22d and 25th equinoctial storms will occur, severe, with heavy rainfall covering greater portion of the country. Terrific rain storms over the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and the mountain districts.

Between the 27th and 30th warm to cool wave; very cool weather, with heavy frost north of the lake regions. Storms; heavy rains, followed by cooler weather and frost over Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and the mountain districts.

Personal Gossip

Miss Sadie Frankel is visiting in Henderson.

Mr. L. Yonts and wife have gone to Hot Springs, Ark.

Mrs. W. J. Gill is visiting relatives in Russellville.

Joe Hartfield, of Henderson, spent Tuesday with friends in the city.

Misses Kate Buckner and Lula Mosley left this morning for Plant City, Fla.

Mrs. J. M. Cobbs, of Covington, Tenn., is visiting relatives in the city.

Miss Emilee Hutchison is visiting Mrs. B. B. Stevenson, at Benetts-town, Ky.

Mr. G. H. Taylor and family left this morning for Abilene, Tex., to visit relatives.

Mrs. T. C. Clark and son, of Hopkinsville, have returned home after visiting Mrs. James Baldwin.

Miss Cornelia Redd has returned from a visit to friends in Trigg county.

Miss Lorine Allen, of Pembroke, is the guest of Miss Mattie Sue Browning at Church Hill.

Miss Hattie Hale returned this week from a visit to relatives in Mayfield.

Mrs. Clara Burnett, of Paducah, is a guest of her sister, Mrs. J. E. Cooper.

Mrs. M. G. Rust is visiting her sister, Mrs. Mary Hatcher, near Trenton.

Misses Mary and Susie Garnett have returned from a visit to friends in Paducah.

Mr. W. J. Cheatham and daughter have returned from a visit of two weeks to relatives in Virginia.

Messrs. J. P. Nuchols and Eli Adams, of Church Hill, have returned from the Old Point trip.

Mr. L. F. Atkinson returned this week from a visit to relatives at Newport News, Va.

Mrs. Walter Harned, who spent ten days at Old Point Comfort, returned home the first of the week.

Mr. A. G. Warfield and family returned this week from a visit to friends in Clarksville.

Mrs. Lizzie Keegan has gone to the Eastern markets to purchase fall millinery.

Mr. J. H. Eggleton has gone to West Virginia to spend ten days in the mountains.

Mrs. J. B. McKenzie, who spent the summer in Rockbridge county, Va., has returned home.

Judge M. D. Brown, of Madisonville, was here yesterday on business.

Miss Sallie Brown, Superintendent of Schools in Hopkins county, attended the teachers' institute yesterday.

Mr. Allan D. Wallis, of Philadelphia, after a short visit to his parents, left for his home Wednesday morning.

Miss Neveline Morton, of Madisonville, passed through the city Tuesday enroute home from Ceraulan.

Dr. C. H. Nash returned this week from Petersburg, Va., where he spent ten days visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. Jas. West and Mrs. Casey have returned from a visit to Old Point Comfort, New York and Washington, D. C.

Mr. Walter W. Gilliland, of Louisville, is here on a visit to his parents. Mr. Gilliland will move from Louisville to Denver, Col., this month, where he will reside in future.

Mrs. G. H. Stowe, of Julien, will spend several months in Denver, Col., having gone to that place last week. Her health has not been good for some time. She was accompanied by her husband, who returned home this week.

ADDED TO THE LIST FOR FALL TERM OF COURT.

Cornelia Brandon sues for divorce from Dudley Brandon.

Plaintiff states that their marriage occurred several years ago and that more than a year ago defendant abandoned her and has since refused to live with her.

LOST A LEG.

The 10-year-old son of Harvey Williamson, of Platter, Indian Territory, formerly of Hopkinsville, had one of his legs caught in a hay press and so badly injured in the amputation was necessary.

Kokomo, Ind., Sept. 2.—A woman with thirteen living husbands is the allegation of a cross complaint for divorce here to-day in which Sarah Pohlmeyer seeks legal separation from Pohlmeyer.

It was alleged that eight of the husbands live in Ohio and five in Indiana.

JUST A LOOK

Through our Carriage Repository will convince you of three important facts, essential that every buyer of a vehicle should be acquainted with:

FIRST,

That We Have An Attractive Line.

SECOND,

We have a Very Great Variety from which to select.

THIRD,

We buy for Cash and can sell Cheaper on that 'count.

In addition to all this, we are handling makes of vehicles that we have dealt in for years and know their merit. Come and look carefully through our stock, upstairs and down, and it will end in our selling you just what you want.

Forbes M'f'g. Co.